

Daniel K. Davis MD
2750 North Sycamore Dr. Suite 210
Simi Valley, CA 90290
osteodan@aol.com

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Daniel K. Davis, MD Inc.
Simi Orthopedics and Sportsmedicine
01/05 – present

Southern California Permanente Medical Group
Partner/Associate Partner - Department of Orthopedics
09/01 – 01/05

EDUCATION

LAC + USC Medical Center - Los Angeles, CA
Orthopedic Surgery Residency Program, 6/95 – 6/00
Chief Resident: 7/99 – 6/00

M.D., Loyola University – Stritch School of Medicine
Maywood, Illinois. 7/91 – 6/95
Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society

B.S., University of California – Berkeley
Berkeley, California. 9/86 – 12/90
Major: Nutrition and Food Chemistry

FELLOWSHIP

Kaiser Permanente Knee and Sportsmedicine Fellowship
San Diego, California. 8/00 – 7/01
Director: Donald C. Fithian

RESEARCH

Techniques in Medial Patellofemoral Ligament Reconstruction Clinical Orthopedics and Related Research 2002 Sep;(402): 38-52

Anatomic Posterior Cruciate Ligament Reconstruction using a Posterior Cruciate Ligament Allograft: A Biomechanical Analysis – presented at the 2001 AOSSM annual meeting, accepted for publication American Journal of Sports Medicine.

Thermal modulation of the intervertebral disc: a biomechanical analysis – submitted for presentation at the 2001 AAOS annual meeting.

Post-Streptococcal reactive arthritis of the hip presenting as transient synovitis and septic arthritis – presented at the 2000 AAOS annual meeting.

ACTIVITIES

- President – USC Graduate Orthopedic Society
- Arthroscopy Association of North America – Faculty Instructor
- Malibu High School Team Physician – Football
- Mexicali pediatric orthopedic clinic volunteer

HOBBIES

Camping, snowboarding, kayaking/surfing, physical fitness

Anatomic Posterior Cruciate Ligament Reconstruction using a Posterior Cruciate Ligament Allograft: A Biomechanical Analysis – presented at the 2001 AOSSM annual meeting, Keystone, Co. Accepted with revisions - American Journal of Sportsmedicine

Thermal modulation of the intervertebral disc: a biomechanical analysis –presented at the University of Southern California Annual Scientific Meeting, Los Angeles, Ca.

Post-Streptococcal reactive arthritis of the hip presenting as transient synovitis and septic arthritis – presented at the 2000 AAOS annual meeting, Orlando, Fla.

ACTIVITIES

- President – USC Graduate Orthopedic Society(SOGOS)
- Arthroscopy Association of North America – Faculty Instructor
- Malibu High School Team Physician – Football
- LA County Sheriff-Air 5 rescue physician
- Mexicali pediatric orthopedic clinic volunteer

HOBBIES

Camping, snowboarding, kayaking/surfing, physical fitness

REFERENCES

Available upon request